SWEDEN AND U.S. CELEBRATE

One of the finest examples of the brotherhood of nations is demonstrated this week when Delaware celebrated its bicentenary at Wilmington, with President Roosevelt and three members of the Royal family of Sweden, and the foreign minister of Finland attending. It was Sweden and Finland which furnished the settlers of the Delaware Valley three hundred years ago. Secretary Hull asserted that the way of life followed by the colonizers of New Sweden had a particular bearing at a time when prevalent prejudice, hatred and violence "were abroad in the world" and threatened civilization.

Sweden's relations with the people of that part of the United States have never been marred by any unpleasantness and President Roosevelt called it a true friendship.

Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, the 55-year old son of King Carl XVI of Sweden who came with his wife and son to the celebration spoke from his bedroom aboard the Kronholm where he lay ill, having been suddenly stricken on the voyage. His son Prince Bertil spoke on behalf of the Swedish delegation and brought greetings from Sweden's King, Mr. Gustaf V.

Sweden is one of the finest examples of parent land and a colony which existed as a political entity in the New World for more than three centuries.

How proud the Swedes at home and their cousins in another land felt as the President of the great Republic of the United States, who was once New Sweden's king, delivered a message of friendship and the unity in the very presence of people of the same ancestral blood.

Sweden's contrasting features are presented in Europe with its feuds, its suspicions and fears.

Sweden has something else to be thankful for besides her own fine democracy of today, she knows that as a part of the United States, what was once New Sweden was developed and helped to develop the democratic spirit.

Swedes and Americans of Delaware contrasted in the fact that the first new republic of today with their confederates in Delaware, a plain simple, industrious people.

Through three hundred years separate the lands which are celebrating, they are democracies of the highest stamp, they are in the van of the great democratic states, part of that world of freedom, which is so different from the regimentation of dictator lands.

Sweden did not come to fraternize. As a contrast one has only to glance at the castles, forts, fortresses and millions upon millions of men under arms, where some nations can scarcely have a sufficient number of men to maintain a relationship that does not imply and impose conquest and domination.

It is a happy time when the democracies so friendly, in a few weeks King George will visit Democratic France. The democracies see they are in a world of their own. Outside seems utter madness.

A monument to the adventurers from Sweden and Finland who came out to found the colony in Delaware in 1838 was dedicated to the founders of the colony of New Sweden. It is the gift of Sweden to the people of the United States.

THE HEROIC

Loyalty to his trade and the desire to prevent injury or death to pedestrians walking below him on the sidewalk inspired Harry Metcalf, a Brooklyn (N.Y.) glass dealer, to grab a man by the collar with his bare hands. He was replacing a broken window on the thirteenth floor of a Bank, when he noticed the upper part of the broken window slipping out of the frame. Hundreds were walking on the streets far below. Realizing that the inch-thick glass would likely strike some one, he seized it, the jagged edges cutting through a tendon and two muscles, so he may lose the use of his right hand.

Here is the pure heroic. In no many places it shows in its best among those who do not profess to be heroic. Such men just do what their noble spirit inspires them to do.

His was no time to think. He was calm and meditate upon his action. His will to act immediately, for delay meant doing nothing. He did not think of his hand, but of his service as a glazier to prevent glass from falling with likely injury or death to some one.

The New York Times newspaper gave his heroic action the front-page top of a column in an indented article, certain to attract attention. That shows how the world honors heroes.

This is the type of action which means true bravery, not to think of self, where others' safety is involved. In how many jobs, how often in every hour there is evidence of the same spirit of sacrifice!

Owing the American League's pitching talent can do something soon about Jimmy (the Hammer) Foxx, the record run-batted-in record of the National League (the Yankees) may be broken today. When's he's going to be wiped out?

Willson's mark has been in the books since 1914. That year he hit 190 times across the plate, and it takes some time to fall climbing to come anywhere close to that figure. Consider, for instance, that Babe Ruth never made it, and Lou Gehrig, who was the best hitter in the American League, never got over 184. But about come Jimmy the Hammer to travel at a clip so far that he can hit inside the 100-foot mark in 200 marks it can keep it up. He has been hitting like a hot potato, and he is the only player in the league to lead in home runs, runs batted in, and runs scored. He is the only player in the league to lead in home runs, runs batted in, and runs scored. He is the only player in the league to lead in home runs, runs batted in, and runs scored.

Well On Way to Record.
Foxx was slow up for a while in the last couple of weeks, and it looked as if he might slip up the pace. But since the red hot returned to the field he has been fence-busting and well on the way to the record. Yesterday he added more to his total for the year. Letty drove down the Atlantic 12-1. The Yankees hit a total of 12 runs for the 62 games for the Red Sox for the season. This is an average of about 1.4 per game, which is a record. The Yankees have scored 200 runs in 125 games, which would mean to average 1.6 runs per game to break the record.

Victory Did Not Help.
Despite Jimmy's hot hit, the Red Sox victory yesterday did not help. The Yankees won 10-1. The Yankees called on their No. 1 runner, Lou Gehrig, to lead off. He hit a home run, and the Yankees won 10-1. The Yankees called on their No. 1 runner, Lou Gehrig, to lead off. He hit a home run, and the Yankees won 10-1. National League.
In the National League, the Giants' newest member, Bob Seeds, hit a home run, and the Yankees won 10-1. The Yankees called on their No. 1 runner, Lou Gehrig, to lead off. opinion for balloting is entirely speculative. Denton Marrey and Joseph Harris, are two of the younger members of the party, who will in all probability allow their names to go before the convention for balloting.

PALACE OF VERSAILLES PREPARES FOR ROYAL VISIT

The palace of Versailles is being prepared for the forthcoming visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth which is scheduled for July 15. Previous plans called for their majesties to visit France in June but the death of the queen, forced a postponement of the visit. Say Boy Admits He Took Steering Wheel from Car

Although necessity is sometimes the mother of invention, local police officers would not have been so quick to respond to a case of a boy who admitted to taking the steering wheel from a car parked on a city street. The boy, who was 15 years old, was seen by a police officer who was patrolling the area. The officer saw the boy get into the car and take the steering wheel. The officer then saw the boy drive away. The officer then called for backup and the car was stopped. The boy was then taken to the police station. The boy's father was then called and the boy was released. The boy's father was then told that the boy was not to drive the car again. The boy's father was then told that the boy was to be punished for his actions. The boy's father was then told that the boy was to be warned that if he did it again, he would be in trouble. The boy's father was then told that the boy was to be warned that if he did it again, he would be in trouble. The boy's father was then told that the boy was to be warned that if he did it again, he would be in trouble.

Boy Friend Is Stinging, Says Girl

Will She Be Happy
Married to Him?
Is Query

By VIRGINIA LEE

REAL STINGINESS is a horrible trait, isn't it? I'd advise any girl who is being courted by a stingy man to break off the engagement. I'd advise any girl who is being courted by a stingy man to break off the engagement. I'd advise any girl who is being courted by a stingy man to break off the engagement.

Stinginess means that a person does not have for material things but that he does for people. He may accumulate, hoard, it is a passion for getting a job of things growing and growing for the sake of it, not for getting, not for any good they may do.

Very close and covetous, mean, suspicious, miserly, says Mr. Webster, defining the word. I'd advise any girl who is being courted by a stingy man to break off the engagement. I'd advise any girl who is being courted by a stingy man to break off the engagement.

It reads "When You're Rolling Along Think of the Energy It Takes to Roll Over." The illustration shows that to roll over a car twenty-five miles an hour has developed enough energy to roll over once. At fifty miles the energy is sufficient to roll the car over four times, and at seventy-five miles an hour no fewer than nine times is it sufficient to roll the car over nine times. In this latter case it would probably hit a tree or a culvert long before it did its ninth roll over. The illustration is a good one, somewhat and then "the unused portion of energy would be spent in ripping the car over, the car and its occupants, to Ballooning Begins at 2 p.m.

At three o'clock this afternoon the convention will begin balloting and the successful candidate will be who first obtains a clear majority over the combined vote of all others.

After the first ballot the candidate receiving the lowest vote will retire automatically and another will be withdrawn may be chosen will be the order of the day until the victor has been chosen.

Personal to Mr. Bennett
Several dramatic incidents marked yesterday's ball program at the convention, highlight being the presentation of a full-length portrait in oil to retiring leader Sir R. B. Bennett, and his speech of acceptance.

Mr. Bennett scored those within the party and outside which he described as "reactionary forces which had moved to limit his reform policy of the past."

"I said Bennett must be sacrificed," he declared, "and he was sacrificed," but he had not been endeavoring to interpret and his first appearance at the gathering of the convention of 1937, he declared, a platform he had no right to be forming.

London, England, Sunday
Mr. Bennett was widely noted when the convention stood in silent tribute to his sister, Mrs. W. H. Bennett, who died recently, and when his nephew, Mr. J. H. Bennett, was formally installed as president.

Direct appeals were made toward the delegates to support the policy of the party, which Mr. Bennett said they should maintain to win with all the forces of the party.

GERMANY TO GET MEXICAN ORDERS

Ten Million Dollar Sale of Oil Made to New York
Firm
Mexico City, July 7.—(AP)—Germany is being held in a strong position today to get a large share of Mexican industrial orders worth of oil to a New York firm. Official and financial sources here said payments would be 40 per cent and the rest in credits for machinery and industrial products, which would be sold to Germany since she is understood to be short of such goods. Mexico has lacked markets and business for oil products since nearly all tankers, David has 27 tankships, and sources here said he was confident he could handle all of the oil Mexico could produce for export.

oil mentioned the possibility that to export goods to Germany might affect David's shipments, they carry oil from exportation, which is the contention that the oil is still.

Major League Managers Seem Firmly Fortified in Positions As Big Leagues Hit Stretch

Annual Remuneration Relative to Managerial Switches Now at Risk

WHAT ABOUT RUTHI?

Oscar Vitt Has Inspired Ideas And Has Fans' Fidelity

By KID FEENE

This is the time of year when tomatoes get ripe enough for good throwing from the stands and major league managers start wondering whether they're reading the "Red" column by autumn.

As the two big leagues picked up their pennant races today, after their three-day all-star lull, there was a new few pieces about speculation already had been written.

For the first time in the memory of the oldest inhabitant, however, there isn't the hint of any sign that the managers are usually ready to the roof falling in on the incumbent. Cleveland's Oscar Vitt has inspired such hope on the grounds that he has been called the folks along that particular section of the team.

On the other hand, you have to love the Betting Book's Oscar Vitt, who usually comes from New York City, who usually comes from New York City, who usually comes from New York City.

It is known, hasn't met with the absolute approval of the owners that he is Brooklyn's today. But man, every line the Hodini's baseball team, it's a month or so ago, after every line from Judge Landis down to the Phillies' today was reported in the file for the Dodge, Landis, and the others.

National League Triumphs Over A. L. All-Stars

Whoever you think of managerial shifts, you somehow think of Cincinnati as the epitome of the American League brand of baseball. For when you see them, you're seeing the Cincinnati Reds, who were made by Joe Cronin and his staff on the way out of the Chicago Cubs.

Cincinnati July 6—First hit by the all-star shortstop for his league. He was the only hit of Johnny Vanover for the first time in his career. Vanover, who was in the lineup for the first time, was on the mound, and Cronin was not caught off first base a moment's time.

National League Who Helped Turn Tables

triumphed 4-1 in the annual all-star game. Reason for the victory in a big way were these three heavy hitters, rejoicing in the dressing room, after the game. Left to right are Ernie Lombardi, Red Killebrew, and Johnny Vanover, the latter's first home run of the season.

Toronto, July 8.—Eggs continue their sensational advance on the Toronto produce market today. Butter solids ruled quiet, and chickens remained inactive.

Graded egg quotations have advanced again in Thursday's trade, but on the basis of still less than medium eggs. Undergrades, left behind by the recent movement, remained unchanged at 22c for grade B, and 21c for grade C. Real demand for top grades prevailed on the new levels. The gain at Montreal, that centre, was again more attractive, and the Ontario shippers' wiping out of Ontario's position of equality of a twenty-four hours' duration.

The advance of graded eggs produced a stir in the ungraded market of the local egg market. It was like the effect of the graded quotations in the near future. However, ungraded A-large and medium were still at 24c and 23c respectively, here as Thursday's action finished. B's at 20c and C's, ungraded, have made no change for some time. Dealers in the vision of the egg market also reported a shortage of the two grades of eggs.

WAR - - KIDNAPPING - - POLITICS - - DISASTER - -

BUT.... it's the LITTLE THINGS that count....

New drapes for the guest room, and Junior's first haircut. A new recipe for peach pie and new pans for baking it. A picnic at the beach, and a new hat for the weekly bridge. Every day events? Of course! But they're the things that make life livable! What's a war in Illyria and another Arctic expedition, compared to the thrill of the first glimpse of the family that's moving in next door, and the delivery of a shining new refrigerator? What's a royal wedding, and twelve rooms filled with gifts, when Anne has her fifth birthday tomorrow? They're interesting enough, something to talk about, to wonder at, perhaps, but pretty far away from that most important spot and the people who live there . . . your own home.

That's where your heart is, and that's where the real thrills lie, in the things that concern you and the people who live around you, next door, in the next block, anywhere in town. There's news about them in every issue of the daily Ontario Intelligencer in "inside page" stories—and in every ad too, for the ads in the Ontario Intelligencer are news! There's news about new clothes for the family, and new food for the table, and new furniture for the home. There's news about new entertainment, and new ways to get to it. There's news about something new on every page, from the latest dispatch on the front page to the new shoes for Anne on the last . . . all written to you and for you, put up in a neat package and delivered at your door-step every day.

HERE THEY ARE AGAIN!

July 12, the day before the King and Queen are due to arrive in France on a visit of state. The visit has been postponed because of the death of the Queen's mother—but there was hope today the King would be recovered sufficiently to go to France.

The King and the Queen appeared at a night reception at Windsor Friday night. The King and the Queen had a private audience with the Duke of Windsor Friday night. The King and the Queen had a private audience with the Duke of Windsor Friday night.

Physicians were summoned from London yesterday but the illness was not made public until last night. It is believed by Lord Dawson, the King's physician, that the King was suffering from a mild attack of pneumonia.

One informant said the present illness was "recurrence of asthma" from which he has suffered from time to time.

No Change in Plans
Paris, July 11.—(CP-Herald)—The disposition of King George VI. does not require any change in plans for the visit of the King and Queen to this city July 18, according to authoritative sources from London. The visit was informed the King would be officially welcomed in two or three days.

PREVIEW OF SEASON

By the calendar it's still Summer... but it's Autumn by the advertisements! They're starting now with exciting bulletins from the fashion front, news of special fur and furniture sales, and clever ideas for home decoration.

Turn the pages! So those are the hats we'll wear this Fall! Here's a chance to select your winter coat—of fur, or fur-trimmed—at a great saving. There are items of interest to September brides and grooms looking for unusual values in furnishings for the new home. Right alongside is a description of the latest in window hangings that would lure Mother from her preoccupation with the children's school wardrobes.

Look ahead to Autumn for a season of thrilling activity... and look to your favorite newspaper's advertising columns for a forecast of coming fashions in clothes, and housefurnishings and entertainings. Buy, when you're ready, from the merchants who, through their printed messages, have kept you posted, guide you to values, and saved you money. READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS... AND BE READY FOR FALL.

London Life representatives have established three outstanding records this year in extending the services of life insurance to the Canadian public.

- For the first quarter of the year, the sale of Ordinary Life Insurance reached a new high level.

- For the second quarter the new Ordinary Life Insurance sold exceeded the above record by a substantial margin.
- June was the best month in the Company's history for Ordinary Insurance sales.

This last achievement is all the more remarkable since it exceeded June of last year by more than 50%, and was twice as large as June of 1936. This record was made possible by the work of the salesmen of Ordinary Insurance in both branches and does not, include

Mrs. Virginia Jenkins of Indiana, United States representative in the lower house of congress is working this summer—vacation or no vacation.

But he comes up now. I would like to tell you the invitation? It would be a birthday party, some of them may bring birthday gifts and others may not, and featuring your birthday presents from your family may somewhat embarrass the guests who do not bring presents. Don't you agree?

As soon as Congress adjourned he hastened to her home district and her dear, and has been hard at work ever since.

She had a campaign for reelection, so there will be no rest for Congressman Jencks. She says she enjoys seeing friends again when she goes back to Terre Haute.

WARNS AGAINST SUNSTROKE

In these warm days, the question of sunstroke is of importance. Sunstroke is very different from heat prostration, the important accident. Prevention Association week, which states the symptoms and recommends first aid treatments.

Symptoms may be recognized by:

1. Hot dry skin and red face; there are no perspiration, shooting pains and headache.
2. High fever, dizziness, shooting pains and headache.
3. Hard, loud breathing and convulsions.
4. Pulse quick and pounding.
5. Patient may become incoherent.
6. Recommended treatment is:

1. Remove to shady place and remove outer clothing to the waist.
2. Lay on back with head and shoulders raised.
3. Apply ice or cold water to head, cool body with water or wet cloth, but avoid shock.

4. When conscious and able to drink, give cool—noticed—water. Give no stimulants.

LAST FRONTIERS

An editorial in the New York Times refers to the claim that there is no longer an American frontier and under the heading "The Last Frontier" tells of the Colorado River Expedition. In Canada there are frontiers that are yet to be explored, and many adventures in land and mining and exploration are yearly being made up, but it will be long before the last one is gone. The editorial in the Times is of interest because it shows what even yet in the highly civilized and greatly explored United States yet remains to be explored:

"Those who maintain that there is no longer an American frontier should consider the Nevils expedition down 300 turbulent miles of the Colorado River. Conditions confronting the six voyagers proved hazardous and perilous as they sailed down the Ohio a hundred and fifty years ago by General Rufus Putnam, whose thrust into the wilderness of the Northwest Territory has just been celebrated at Marietta.

"These new pioneers also embarked on canoe-made boats and chugged through a course even faster and more vacant. But the skulking Indians were lacking. But through the entire stretch of the lake and the adventures saw only six other persons, three of whom, curiously enough, were Japanese prospectors. Their hazards were the same as Putnam faced—shallow, cataracts and utter isolation. But there were differences, too. Nevils had carried their food in sealed tin cans and cast off soup tins when they reached the halfway point from which they are expected to push on again. They also showed every airplane circling above to find if they were out of supplies. Putnam's men were Revolutionary veterans, used to rough life. Two of Nevils' party were geologists, and the swirling stream to watch for flowers along its banks. Two geologists had come to study the canyon walls and a photographer to record their discoveries. Only Nevils himself was a practical riverman.

"One of the women, Miss Lois Jotter, was armed for the night against the desolate shore except by packrats, red ants and pink rattlers. The boats, however, were gay, and the "Graveyard of the Colorado" and other dangerous stretches, but further downstream one of them capsized, and there was a desperate battle to save its occupants. Yet when the expedition stepped safely ashore at Lee's Ferry, a desert metropolis of two inhabitants greeted them cheerfully. "We had a swell time," there seems still to be an American spirit to conquer the last frontier."

Will Edward Hughes when he reaches the end of his goal, have the world's greatest record safely kept? Hughes keeps a day of the world of the Willy Post record in 1933 and far is at present roving across the steps of the Soviet Republic.

And the audience of the Willy Post record goes on. Willy Post set a record of 7 days, 18 hours, and 49 minutes with his party five years ago. It is 13 years ago that he set a record that which he has so far accomplished the Post record will be greatly repeated. Such an achievement will make for the world's greatest breaking in all time, would seem, as the question will become one of schedule in the course of time.

A SONG OF THE OLD FUR TRADE

(In the old days the Bateau laid, Lachine each Spring for the West. Convivial reunions were had on the night before leaving Lachine, when they met the flotilla of boats going East, and on arrival at Fort Vancouver in Oregon in the Fall.)

"Roull, roulant, ma boule roulant,"
Voyageurs sang as they swept along,
And a piper played

From Lachine to Trade
From Lachine to Trade
From Lachine to Trade

"Roull, roulant, ma boule roulant,"
MacTavish, Mackenzie, mon garcon!
Were Lords of the North

And they went men forth
From Lachine to Trade
From Lachine to Trade

"Roull, roulant, ma boule roulant,"
At all the forts the route along,
They'd dance and sing

In the days of Spring
From Lachine to Trade
From Lachine to Trade

"Roull, roulant, ma boule roulant,"
Through the prairies they paddled on
In glare of sun and heat

Among Grows and Blackfoot
From Lachine to Trade
From Lachine to Trade

"Roull, roulant, ma boule roulant,"
Snowpeaks arose, currents grew strong
As nights grew cold

And maple leaves turned gold
From Lachine to Trade
From Lachine to Trade

"Roull, roulant, ma boule roulant,"
Paddle on and strong to far Oregon
And you'd get

And taste good fare
And carouse in Fort Vancouver—

VISITING DELEGATES

TO THE BELLEVILLE KILTIES BAND REUNION
The late Mr. John D. Macdonald, a former comrade, Albert Johnstone, of the Albert Johnstone troupe of pipers and dancers from Dundee, Scotland, who toured with the Belleville Kilties, Sincere sympathy was expressed for Mrs. Johnstone in her bereavement. Albert Johnstone was a member of Dundee, Scotland, and was famous the world over as an outstanding Highland Piper and Dancer. He was winner of hundreds of prizes, including the championship of the world for bagpipe playing in Paris, France. Twice he was champion of the world for bagpipe playing and dancing before the late Queen Victoria. Albert Johnstone also played the bagpipe and dancing before the late King Edward, also Queen Alexandra, King George and Queen Mary, then Prince and Princess of Wales, and other members of the Royal Family, both at Balmoral Castle, Scotland, and Sandringham Castle, England.

An unusual incident in the life of Albert Johnstone concerned the Sultan of Morocco, an ardent lover of the bagpipe. Mrs. Johnstone's services were requested as the first to tune up the Royal's bagpipes which were mounted in 12-carat gold.

For two years previous to leaving Scotland, Mr. Johnstone was tutor to Lord Eglinton's family, also the Earl and Countess of Roslyn. He was also teacher of the world-famous Albert Johnstone Troupe of International Dancers, who toured with the Belleville Kilties.

In connection with the recent death of Professor Albert Johnstone, the following lines were written by a young Belleville admirer, Harold Bankier:

IN MEMORY OF PIPE-MAJOR ALBERT JOHNSTONE

This day the pipes of Scotland sky skirled
"The Flowers of the Forest" to the breeze
Before the Kirk Saint Andrew. While they hurried
Their mournful notes aloft among the trees
In memory of the dead, his friends below
Shook their bowed head, and deepest honor paid

The man who had so oft paced to and fro
Within the banquet hall or on parade
His bagpipes—his lutes—his thrills as from his pipe
Flowed Scottish music, stirring, brave and true

I've always heard of but a single type
Of instrument the hosts of heaven play
Yet of this I'm sure, no matter how Albert Johnstone plays his pipes in heaven now.

377 YEARS LATER

Those who have read history recall an old situation of which they have read in early school days—the story of the Royal Progress of Queen Elizabeth. Yesterday to attend a garden party at the Tower of London, Queen Mary made a royal progress down the Thames—the first to do so since Queen Elizabeth, daughter of King Henry Eighth, who ruled in the sixteenth century. Queen Mary took the place of her great-grandmother, the present Queen Elizabeth, both who had to cancel the engagement as she is in mourning on account of the recent death of her mother, the Countess of Stratmore.

The Tudor Queen sailed in the royal barge to visit the mint, then in the Tower, July 10th, 1561.

The scene yesterday in the royal progress when the Queen of the House of Windsor travelled down the famous river, was interesting with the historic costumes worn by the King's bargemen, and six royal watermen, who dressed in gold, scarlet and black velvet, and caps and red knee pants formed a guard of honor when the Queen Mother embarked at Westminster Pier. At the Tower, around the Palace and fortress, she was greeted by some of the 2,500 guests at the fête.

Much water has flowed under the bridge of the Thames and many new types of crafts have moved down the river in the 377 years which have elapsed since another queen made her royal progress. Times have changed, but in the ancient old land of England such pageantry is vital and one of the great binding forces in an era when royalty and democracy are at odds. The royal progress is today as it was in the days of the first signs of the first fruits of the discovery of the new world by Columbus, beginning to be shown. The first of the dawn of an amplified world was felt in the reign of Elizabeth. In 1561 she had been queen but three years and had been queen but her little feet smashed the home-gallooned navy of Spain and forever wrecked its might on the sea. Before her death British mariners were at sea in all points of the compass.

The old Tudor custom is a happy revival in this day and Queen Mary is beloved by the people and can grace such a scene with all the noble attributes of royalty.

GIRDLING THE WORLD

The thoroughness of the preparation and the amazing speed of Howard Hughes and the experience of his crew on their round-the-world tour have been admired by experts everywhere. All see in his achievements further proof of the advance of aviation and the progress made in the aviation industry.

A polar explorer, Lieut. Commander Lincoln Ellsworth, polar flier and explorer, was a great gain in civil aviation and declares the flight round-the-world a "vast contribution towards the development of regular travel over North Atlantic in heavier-than-air craft." He places Lindbergh and Hughes in a place of honor as having made commercial aviation so much in debt to them.

Kot. Kerwood, member of the wartime escadrille of the United States, says "that from Wreck to Lindbergh and Hughes marks the completion of a triple play about which all Americans may well be proud."

These men with their vast experience of aviation have also the gift of foresight that the present flight indicates in its speed and thoroughness. Aviation in the commercial realm is coming to its era of such practicability that it will doubtless soon become general. The era of travel. War aviation differs in many places, though it owes a great deal to the achievements of the commercial fliers, and it must be confessed too, that the development of warplanes has aided much in the rounding out the growth of the commercial industry.

THE HOME FORUM
During the Evening of the 13th, the comedy and musical from "The Three Bares" was presented by the Home Foreword under the stage management of the L.A. Company.

EVENING CALL

When sunset touched the hills with gold

At the close of a fair June day,

A little lad just four years old

Came in all tired with play;

The bigger boys he said had gone

And he was boarding on the lake.

And quiet he must be at home

Lest the new baby wake.

He prattled on in this and that

In his sweet stammering way,

Then suddenly grown tired of chat

Upon the couch he lay;

The tired eyelids closed in sleep,

The restless form grew still,

And in a slumber sweet and deep

Subdued were thought and will.

And as the twilight shadows fell

And the hills were filled with gold,

He lay a chubby cherub form

A bud for future bloom;

A precious little baby heart

And in a twinkling of the eye,

May every twilight bring a calm

A solace for life's tears.

REMINISCENCES SEEM TO BE IN ORDER, whether it be the weather, certain of Old Boys and Girls or whether, certain it is that the memories of Old Times and some not so old go back to School Days, the Old Swimmers' 'Ole and the halcyon days of youth, in school and after.

Since Belleville business section caught the habit of having its file lifted, and new fronts installed, old land marks have been disappearing, the disappearing memories of the old store fronts helped to keep alive.

The latest store to have its file lifted and emerge in modern manner is the drug store of George Pauley, business establishment which has been identified with many successive phases of the development of the city of Belleville. This business was established in 1876 by James Clark and D. M. Waters. Mr. Clark was later drowned in the Bay of Canada, following which D. M. Waters took over the store in 1884 under his own name, then in premises now occupied by the Dominion Insurance Tax Office. This property was later purchased by the Standard Bank about 1902, and the Waters' Drug Store moved to its present location at 213 Front Street.

Old Timers will be interested in being reminded that this location was formerly occupied by the St. George Hotel, operated by Allan Mait, father of Charles Mait, City Engineer. Mr. C. A. Ostrom served his apprenticeship with D. M. Waters and was chief clerk at the time of Mr. Waters' death.

Mr. Waters died in 1917, and Mr. Ostrom took over the drug store and operated it as Ostrom's Drug Store until January 1, 1935.

The present owner, George Pauley, who is part of his apprenticeship period with D. M. Waters, finishing under Mr. Ostrom.

Mr. Pauley graduated from Ontario College of Pharmacy in 1920 and returned to Belleville as assistant to Druggist Ostrom and until gentleman's retirement from business took over the business and has been conducting it since with gratifying success, being an energetic young business man and familiar with every phase of the drug business. In keeping with his progressive ideas and the growth of his business in consequence Druggist Pauley has had the store entirely remodelled and fine new front of the most modern design installed. The original designing of the store front was Mr. Pauley's, and the result is very pleasing to the eye. Even the sign which surmounts the show windows is of a strikingly original type and window is so cannot fail to command instant attention because it is so different. The contractor responsible for this excellent piece of work was Mr. Edgar Rutherford, of Belleville.

It is interesting to note the unusual continuity of ownership of this business since inception in 1876, the business being twice taken over by employees of long standing, who learned the business in the same location.

BLEARNINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BY-GONE YEARS

July 14th, 1918

Mr. Edward Reid of the Toronto News, an old Belleville boy, in the city news columns, says:

Mr. and Mrs. C. Taylor, Hamilton, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Taylor, Belleville.

The price of beef dropped one dollar.

The parkers quote $24.00.

The drop can continue, unless they without hurting the feelings of the consumers.

Mr. J. Maynes of this city is spending a few days in Hamilton, after which he will go to Walkerville to reside with his daughter, who moved there last year.

That Body of Poets

By James W. Barker, Ph.D.

Macintosh and Manger of Manger

When one looks at the straight face of the poet, it is hard to believe that he does not believe in the existence of an omniscient or eye specialist, to find just how much assistance is needed to bring his great ideas to the surface of his mind, has been the case for many years.

"PICK-A-BACK" AIRPLANE READY FOR FLIGHT TO CANADA

The British "Pick-a-Back" airplane Mercury, is expected to take off from Poyne, Ireland, this week on a flight to Canada across the North Atlantic. The Mercury, shown here in the air, TOP, and on the water, has a flying range of 3,000 miles and a cruising speed of 160 miles per hour. It takes to the air from the back of the "mother ship" to enable it to carry the maximum load of gas. If winds are favorable the Mercury will land at Montreal, but if strong head winds are met during the Atlantic crossing the airplane will land at Shadish, N.B., where a special refueling base has been established. On its return flight the Aurora route will be followed making use of the mother ship emergency.

Canadian Newspaper Wins Coveted Trophy

For the first time in six years of competition a Canadian newspaper, the Peterborough Examiner, has won the coveted Bingham trophy for carrier boy citizenship. The trophy was presented to the Examiner by the International Circulation Managers' Association's convention in Quebec city. The Examiner's team consisted of Larry Williamson, 15, Larry, and Arthur Roodie, 11. RIGHT: The two small cups shown ABOVE, represent their championship.

Other than their mother, Mrs. Stewart, they fled to the woods. Provincial police found their bodies there later. His head was on a log and there was blood found through his forehead. His 22 rifle was beside him. Police said it was a murder and suicide. They did not think there was a suicide. The coroner had not decided immediately on whether to conduct an inquiry into Mrs. Emmel's death.

Greatly Fatigued After World Flight Sleeps 14 Hours

New York, July 13 (AP)—Howard Hughes, the world's new symbol for speed, caught up with sleep today. The fact, greatly fatigued after the world flight, slept 14 hours last night. He retired to his room in the Hotel Drake, Park Avenue, at 7:15 p.m. and awoke at his bed until 9 a.m. today.

Before he breakfasted, Hughes ordered all the available newspapers and informed the hotel management he would accept telephone calls after 11 a.m.

The management disclosed that Hughes came here two months ago to prepare for the flight and spent most of his time making telephone calls to various parts of the world and writing letters.

He spends hours reading aviation magazines.

Washington, July 13 (AP)—The Army and Navy Union decided today to award Howard Hughes "round the world" flight. His annual medal for an outstanding aviation achievement. Dick Merrill, who made a round trip flight to Great Britain, won the medal last year.

Chinese announced that their airmen continuously were raiding Japanese planes, both military and naval, below Kiao-Shang.

Kiao-Shang is 135 miles from Hanksow, east of General Chiang Kai-shek's government and the ultimate objective of the Japanese offensive.

For three days now the Japanese have made no marked advance, and Chinese insist their drive has been brought to a halt.

Full there was no positive evidence to support the Chinese claim, it is fairly well established that the Chinese aerial force in recent days has damaged several Japanese craft.

Old Customers Not Enough to Keep A Business Alive

WHILE OLD CUSTOMERS—steady customers—are the backbone of any well-established retail business, they alone cannot be relied upon to make the business grow.

The furnished merchant realizes the necessity of winning new customers, and uses space in his local newspaper to tell the public the latest news about his goods and his store. Experience has shown that bright, new, truthful advertising in the newspapers is the most economical way to make new customers.

This advertisement was prepared for the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association by The James Fisher Company Limited.

Yes, strikes and victories are the ingredients of BOB PRITCHARD, instant pitcher, would like worked into his arm and muscles. Quite comfortable and smiling happily he is seen in the Cleveland dressing room as Lefly Webster, team trainer, wets over him, keeping those valuable muscles lubricated and down in good shape for the American League stretch drive, in which Clevelanders are hoping their favorite won't fold very suddenly in the middle, as has been their annual custom.

BACK AT THE OLD GAME

In retirement since the death of his son, W. J. (Young) Strickland, a few years ago, PA STRICKLAND is back in the boxing game again as a manager and trainer, and here he is showing some advice to "Young" Mulholland, one of his charges. Young Mulholland was once a leading heavyweight and fought Max Baer's famous fight for the crown in 1936.

OFF TO WORK

FRANCIS O. PRITCHARD, father-in-law of John Jacob Astor, 3rd, is shown with two polo balls of golf balls as he started to work at a three-ton golf driving range as a salesman of golf balls, clubs and accessories. He recently started social circles by applying for a WPA job, returning Francis aid from his wealthy in-laws.

CANFUS CHAMP

That trophy the young man is holding is emblematic of the United States Intercollegiate tennis championship and the young man who won it is FRANK CHENERTSEV, a student at Rice Institute in Texas. He defeated Henry Lewis of Kentucky, Ohio, college in straight sets in the final.

RECORD-EQUALLER

FRANK MOORE (above) who, before the start of the U.S. P.G.A. tournament was best known as the brother of Terry Moore, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, posted a 36-hole score of 136 in the qualifying round to equal the record set in 1929, and with the Alex South Memorial Medal. He couldn't stand the match pace, however, and went out in the first round of the tournament proper.

South Africa's ability drive has nearly deserted the golfers. Irishmen, famous for his fight, will have women police.

ADDING IT UP

OWEN GARLAND, winner of the 11th, jots down his score during tournament at Shawnee-on-Dee. Owen has taken for the three times in the past, a foot only canted by Walker Stapp, who turned the trick five times.

IN THE GROOVE AGAIN?

One of the chief factors in the slump of St. Louis Cardinal this year has been failure of JOHNNY MORRIS (above) to hit. It left the team with only half of the famous, Morlock and time one-two punch. Pritchard and Co. are hoping Johnny returned to normal when he belted out three successive homers in a game with Boston Red Sox.

CLIMBING

What would seem to be a great race for the average player but a slump for JOE DIAMOND (above), seems to be over. For the first part of the season Joe was only batting around the .415 mark and his home runs blazes came infrequently, but the last few weeks have seen him back at the old job of pinning pitchers' ears back with home runs (for the pitchers) regularly.

CONFESSES $100,000 SWINDLE

GEORGE DONALD SMART, 34, a week film studio employee, is alleged by Hollywood police to have swindled at least $100,000 from prominent Hollywood leaders and investment brokers by forging the name of Larry B. Mayer, head of M.G.M. studios, to checkques for "donations" to famous movie stars. Police claim Smart confessed to the swindle.

CANADIAN CONGRATULATES CONQUEROR

McNamee, on to, finished second to St. Mortimer of Quebec City, was third with his Aerowich, famed American racer, in the Quebec.

"SAY IT AIN'T SO," SAYS RICKY

For almost ten years, while St. Louis Cardinals were clamoring for him, BOB KILGORE (above) was trading the Minor League trail, a number of the fam- ous "chain gang," but, as in so many similar cases, no call came from the majors. This year Pris- muth Pirates drafted Robert from Sacramento and all he's done since he has come regularly for them, low just over two earned runs per game, and lost the Cards four times. He's one of the Smoky City team's best investments and his said a certain Branch Rickey loses his ap- petite when the word Kilgore is men- tioned.

Relative Positions of Yankees and Cleveland are Unchanged
(By Hugh S. Patterson, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer)

It would seem to be plenty of excitement among the Major Leagues with Pittsburgh being the National Baseball League lead and getting nowhere, and the Yankees losing to the Cleveland Indians, but on July 18, Dizzy Dean made a comeback.

His pitching, because he was ordered to after being on the shelf for a year and a half, made his comeback in the grand manner. In his first game, he pitched a four-hitter against Boston. His team won 3-1. The Cubs then went to win the second game of the series. On July 19, Bill Lee tossed a five-hitter to get the better of Boston's Dizzy Dean. Fardner, who had been out since June 18, is a victim again.

Cubs in Third Place

The two victories returned the Cubs to third place ahead of Cleveland. Boston, beaten by the Yankees, slipped to fourth place. The Cubs are now 3-1 over the Yankees, who are 2-1 over the Indians. SO AMAZING A FLIGHT!

Wonders will never cease. The world which stood amazed at the achievement last week of Howard Hughes' record-girdling tour has a new sort of achievement to ponder over today, so rich in incident and color as to link it with the famous ocean flights of history. It is the seemingly "madcap" flight of Douglas Corrigan from New York to Ireland, at Dublin, Ireland, his location not being known until he was reported to be in Ireland by a North American newspaper. It was heard from him in some parts of the United States between New York and California.

Most planes trying the Atlantic have been in the place of the latest vintage of Corrigan's plane which had long been used for instruction. There was the story of the wiring of the door of the cabin with wire when the knob came off. Corrigan had no radio and the barest of navigating instruments. His plane is believed to have been capable of about one hundred miles an hour. He explains he set off for California, but his compass misled him and so he arrived in Ireland.

It is no wonder that first reports which were circulating in Dublin were that Corrigan had been in New York in "a town." He munched sandwiches at the Raddison airport at Dublin when he was urged to leave his plane in Ireland. He thought he was heading for California and did not know that it was not California he was coming to until he saw the smoking of the door of the cabin with wire when the knob came off.

This filer who has surprised the world was yesterday technically under detention because of his lack of papers, but that did not appear to worry him.

So appears on the world's fresh page of aeronautic discovery and achievement the story of a man who, like many of our countrymen, was known only to a few pilots and U. S. West Coast aviation experts. He was known to a few pilots and one who knew airplanes thoroughly.

His nine-year-old plane he valued at nine hundred dollars. He had a pilot's license and gasoline tanks which obstructed his vision so he had to bank his 1923 Curtiss Robin plane when he wanted to look at the engine. The plane was of the same similar in equipment and weight to that used by Charles Lindbergh in 1927 on his famous voyage. The plane was often used nearly a decade ago, for training purposes.

What stands out is this—that Corrigan is undoubtedly one of the greatest of figures who know aviation and the technical side of flying.

Who never ever to surprising a filer! No wonder the chief of the American Air Commerce Bureau who issues permits for oceanic flights, did not at first believe that Corrigan had no licence to make the transatlantic attempt, but commented that "it was a day for the Irish." The chief was a man named Mulligan and the filer a man named Corrigan, and the landing place was Dublin. It was an Irishman's day all right.

So far has aviation gone that it has become a matter of instant for many of our days and one of the greatest if not the chief of these is the 31 year old Douglas C. Corrigan.

A new plane was written in the sky in 28 hours and 13 minutes by a young man, in a nine year old airplane, while over the world are new planes, with latest inventions and devices.

WEATHER MAN TOO SLOW

A device that will record the currents of the atmosphere so that aerial navigation may be advised of favorable or unfavorable atmospheric conditions has been invented and will be put to work in the information concerning currents. Balloons will be used in Britain to ascend into the upper layers of air, carrying apparatus through which will be measured the conditions every thirty seconds. A way has been found to do this by sending out two modulated and notes, indicating temperature and pressure, the frequencies being measured on the ground.

The weather after all is vastly important. For all the ages it has been the daily talk of man and today it still plays a vast role in helping or holding up the progress of man. Man has developed a number of devices, thermometers, barometers, wind-gauges and dozens of others to assist, but the main test now is to foretell not merely to tell the weather. The farmer who can tell what the weatherman has in store is not fast enough for airplane pilots. It is necessary to know with great definiteness what the weather will be like so many hours ahead.

It is going to come of this for a certainty. Aviation in peace or in war will demand very exact information and with thousands of workers seeking means of finding at nature's secrets and finding a way of recording them, there cannot be final success.

THE ROYAL VISIT TO FRANCE

An event which will stand in the records of British and French friendship is taking place at the present time when the King and Queen, George and Queen Elizabeth are the guests of the President and the people of the French Republic.

Between these two great peoples, who have grown up side by side for between four and five thousand years, there have been relationships which are a part of the two peoples to this day, there is peace, there is reliance and there is the hope that the lamp of liberty will not go out, while around in the world is lurking fear with confusion.

A portion of France, Normandy, nearly nine hundred years ago gave England her Norman line of kings and today the present head of the people of Britain and Ireland stands a mixture of Celtic and Anglo-Saxon blood and Norman blood. In the early Middle Ages England and France were joined together in the Crusades, and later they fought against one another for provinces of France. In the long run destiny decided that these provinces were to be French. For both Britain and France it was fortunate as it permitted them to grow up to their full stature, so that today, Britain and France are among the most potent agencies for peace, because of their standing on the world scene. When they arrived at the goal of liberty through different ways. One hundred and forty-nine years ago France entered the world scene and for the first time of the period which followed, Britain was engaged against the Emperor Napoleon First and France. Since then the King and Queen of Britain have been friends, in the days when German imperialism in 1870 attacked France, Britain sympathized with the French.

Today, among the two great democracies stand as the bulwark of freedom in western Europe, restraining the claims of the dictators which are opposed to the fundamental concepts of liberty as Frenchman and Britisher understand it. The French imperialism threatened in 1914 and for over four years these two great democracies battled for the right of the individual nation and the freedom of the world as they understand it and won.

The ties of those days are not forgotten. France can never forget the aid of Britain when the British sovereigns came to Paris, that Britain was their great ally in the hour of danger and that these two democracies are standing together, after sacrifices of their best for freedom, comfort of the future.

Such a visit as that of the Sovereigns to a puzzle or confusion to the people of Britain and France. With the King and Queen and their daughters, the Princess Elizabeth and Margaret Rose is there the affection of the British people for the French people and the French Republic. To greet them has gone out the Republic of France towards her great neighbor's royal representatives.

France has no doubt where France stands in this age when loyalty to democratic principles is the chief asset. France is the only country that has the object lesson, which seek only to carry out their ideal of democracy, development by themselves, to the detriment of no nation. These nations will be free, Britain has won her freedom, France has won her freedom, and growth. France won her liberty through the catalyst of the Revolution and development. Neither side can be said to have impeded and harassed by developments in other lands and France is foreign to the King and French spirit.

May these days in which the King and Queen and the President and the people of France are the guests of the French Republic for the future of these two peoples.

The graciousness of the French people in their idealism and their devotion to Paris is as fine as the French would say. Britain and France are having a "time" which contrasts with the French people's traditions of goodwill with the sound of war threats, the ring of the hammers making armaments developments. The world will have something to say to the French people, anything to say to the mind in operated hospitality and goodwill and in their faith in democracy.

When the Archbishop of France said: "The King and Queen are ambassadors of peace and as another pointed out—the singing of 'God Save the King' is a prayer for peace for the world."

THE HOME FORUM

Discusses the Events of the Day Home Circle and General News Items as revealed by the Home Magazine—under the strong lamp of the Home Circle and General.

Reported by The Landlady.

A Toronto paper has been making a great fuss because a number of the staff has left to visit Hollywood. Of course, he will only write what he is permitted to say, and that may not be very much, but why all the fuss about it? Reporters have been coming and going from Hollywood since the first time that there was anything about it. That—Trenton Courier Advocate.

Goah all Hemlock, say we, Trenton Courier Advocate editor is absolutely right—what about the Great Family Journal's Hollywood correspondent, Farley Faulkner. Globe and Mail needn't feel so highly about Holly Young.

BELLVILLE HAS PLENTY OF CONVENIENT PARKING PLACES where visitors can park as long as they like without fear of the Law. The only drawback to the large area of parking space behind the stores on Front Street is the fact that entrance and exit must be made from Front Street where there is always more or less congested. If arrangements could be made to have entrances on Bridge Street and at the north end greater convenience would result. The City Council did a splendid job in cleaning up the waterfront for parking spaces, at the same time eliminating fire hazards which might have caused a general disaster.

MERCHANTS ARE REPORTING THAT VISITORS FROM OUT OF TOWN are getting the occasional catchup for parking in the business district over the time limit.

Turn them over on the common law. They have to pay even a one-dollar fine. Seems as if there could be some discrimination in favor of visiting motorists, for good reason. They have been told that they are not to park in the business district for more than an hour. It is a compliment to the community, that they should be told that that is interesting in the shops and people to cause them to carry a little longer. Let's get up a fund and refund all fines upon the basis of the number of cars that stop at a school for cops—in discretion.

HEALTHY MOTORING

A code of health rules for vacation motorists has been drawn up by the United States Public Health Service. It includes: Don't slump in the seat—it's hard on your back.

Avoid eye strain.

Drive slowly on rough roads and relax when taking bumps.

Have foot pedals or seat comfortably adjusted in relation to the length of your legs.

Rest at intervals.

Eat sparingly while driving, especially in warm weather.

JULES VERNE AND HOWARD HUGHES

Little boys who may read that Howard Hughes went around the earth in some twenty-two days and that Jules Verne made a journey around the world in eighty days, skirted the Equator at the way, Interplop and hapless America. Hughes went around the world in eighty days, skirted the Equator at the way, Interplop and hapless America. Hughes went around the world in eighty days, skirted the Equator at the way, Interplop and hapless America.

To go around in 15,000 miles, as Howard Hughes did, is a feat. A man can circumnavigate the earth by making one full turn in his swivel chair.

TOO KIND?

The Henpecks had just arrived in the cinema when Henpeck turned to her husband, "Is your seat quite comfortable?" "Quite nice," replied the startled Henpeck.

"And have you a good view of the screen?" was the next question.

"Perfect," Henpeck answered.

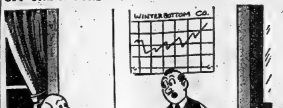

"And that is all that is outside, worry you?" inquired his wife.

"No, darling," returned the bewildered Henpeck.

Mrs. Henpeck changed tone suddenly: "Then change seats with me, you selfish little weasel!" she snapped.

DISMISS CHARGE
AGAINST DOCTOR

Not Guilty of Performing Illegal Operation on Girl

London July 20 (CP-Natal)—
Dr. Alton William Bourne, prominent London obstetrician, was accused in Old Bailey Tuesday of charges that he performed an illegal operation on a 14-year-old girl who was criminally assaulted by Royal Horse Guardsmen.

The trial aroused profound interest in medical circles, during the proceedings Lord Horder, physician-in-ordinary to the King, said Horder and two prominent prosecutors, Dr. John Hastings and Dr. William Clifton testified they would have acted in the same way as the defendant under the circumstances.

Crowd Cheers Verdict
The jury, which included two women, took 45 minutes to reach a verdict after Justice Blackburn had summed up, said Dr. Bourne had performed "an act of charity without fee."

Chorus from the crowd, including the leaders of the British medical profession and prominent society figures greeted the verdict.

acquitted.

Princess and Bob Want to Show Mama and Papa

Palo Alto, Calif., July 21 (AP)—Round for Hollywood and an uncertain future. Princess Baba, daughter of the wide Ralph of Barakat, and Bob Gregory, her younger husband, will leave Palo Alto today.

"It's not serious," said Bob, "but I want to go on my independence and show them and papa what we can do." Gregory is going to fulfil wrestling engagements in Hollywood. Then, he said, they expect to sail to the South Sea in a few weeks aboard a friend's yacht.

Bob and Baba want to buy an island in the Dutch East Indies where he can be happy.

RHEIMS CATHEDRAL RESTORED

In its supreme Gothic beauty, the Cathedral of St. Louis at Rheims, France, has been restored and dedicated with civil and religious authorities from half a dozen nations officiating. This majestic pile, dedicated to the worship of God, has been rebuilt less than a quarter of a century after war's havoc had done its worst to wipe such sanctuaries of piety and faith in the years 1914-1918.

War tried but failed though it rendered sacred piles to powder and ashes for man's faith has tried to remove the scars left by the guns of the foe. Rheims Cathedral therefore is very much like life and the human spirit which has suffered in this world and still wishes to serve, bearing its scars of sacrifice.

For over four years this devoted creature of faith was the object of destruction during which it was reduced to almost complete ruins. Now this majestic structure expressive of man's faith in a way which only the spring Gothic architecture can convey will stand as a memorial to faith and to the passions of man, finally subdued. In its restoration may be a symbol that peace will finally rest over the entire earth.

Rheims was the site of an old Roman town and a city of the Middle Ages. It became one of the most picturesque cities of France and an important industrial and religious cathedral city in the thirteenth century, when craftsmen devoted their entire lives to the expression of human aspirations and religion in architecture and painting. Here the first Joan of Arc, who has become one of the saints of the Catholic faith, saw the visions of the Virgin Mary. France in 1429 after the most amazing victories in the field by the girl-soldier-queen, Rheims Cathedral, Rheims may be justly called the baptismal font of the French race.

BRITAIN'S FRIENDSHIP

Reaffirmation of the goodwill of the people of Britain and France was expressed yesterday when His Majesty King George, as guest of the Republic, arrived in a motorcade to the President of France, Monsieur LeBlanc to pay an official visit to Great Britain in the near future. The invitation was graciously accepted by the President on behalf of the Republic and the state visit will take place in the first part of next year.

Glimping the world today one can see how desirous is the goodwill of such a power as Britain. Germany is known to be desirous of the goodwill of Britain and to Italy and with practically all the nations of the earth. France knows what her true friendship has meant and what a continuous continued power for world security and peace. Without boasting Britain may well say that what Britain represents for the world is the greatest power, strategic a part to play in the development of the world's history, especially in the centuries since the Renaissance. France and has been a prime agent in the progress of civilization for generations. Efforts have been made to destroy France but high estate of honor which she now occupies, but as with the attempt of Germany and Austria in the Great War the result was disastrous.

There have been very real problems created in recovery years which try the soul and the endeavor of the people of the world. It has been shown that men are willing to assume the gigantic burdens of steering the nations to the peace and unity. They know that differences must not be so great that they cannot be overcome. One point stands out clearly, the rapprochement of nations, which must come sooner or later it is hoped, will mean weakening of the friendship of the two powers. Such goodwill is a power which no man can ever know to another implicitly.

Many people have been fearing and have known for some years that the way ahead is a road where danger threatens. Armament building is the only security which can guarantee peace in a world in such a state.

But this week's demonstration of friendship and peace has been a powerful force for the world, and is one of the bright spots in the records of a very tangled period of history.

France too has stood loyally by her principles in these days. It takes two nations to make friendship. One is France and the other Britain. Such goodwill is a powerful appeal and movement towards peace.

SIDEGLIMTS

Dismissing the Events of the Day: Some Glimpses and General News Items as revealed by the Ontario Intelligencer—under the heading "What's Happening" and "What's to Come."

THIS BEING VACATION TIME certain latitude is permitted in all forms of business, and there is no reason why the same should not apply to newspapers. Vacation time means an abbreviated staff and a general doubling up all round to keep pace with the endless round of activities which are necessary in getting out a daily newspaper. "The Show Must Go On," according to stage legend, but more to must the Daily Newspaper Go On, or as a newspaperman says "Come Out on Time," regularly. Even Winchell takes a holiday and turns his column over to others, so who are we to break such an agreeable tradition? Hence, for the next few days this column will be conducted by "Ghost Writers," Belleville citizens who are observant and progressive and whose highest ambition is to be Belleville prosperous and progressive. Should they say anything with which readers may not agree or, still, they remember what David Harnett said: "Difference of opinion makes horse races," and write a hot rebuttal which if not too amusing will appear in this column. Change it as good as a rest, so here's the first one:

ONE FROM THE FEED BOX

It is to be hoped that the weeds that practically cover the racing strip at the Fair Grounds will be removed in the very near future for they certainly give the spectators a very unpleasant appearance. It is almost impossible to watch a horse over the track as there is hardly room for one horse to travel the half-mile ring without stepping on a bunch of weeds. The race course placed there by the late Wallace Parks, when the Parks Board was inaugurated was at that time one of the best half-mile tracks in Ontario but it has never been taken care of in a proper manner. It is now on a track for a few weeks previous to a race meet is not the solution for a piece of dirt, it must be worked on every day and horses brought to the city to race over it so that a cushion will be provided along with manual labor in floating and harrowing the track. Many horsemen in this district are of the opinion that this fine sport in this city for years ago there were held some of the finest races here one was a winner but, but the reduction of purses, due to the depression and other reasons, caused many horsemen to pass up Belleville as a racing center. It is not too late for the city to make the horsemen and a better class of horses brought to this city for the annual races along with a slight increase in the purses. Could not a couple of stake races be inaugurated, the entrance to these, and paid by horsemen. Would nearly cover the purses and then real horse racing would result. But before any of these things can be done, the racing strip at the Fair Grounds must be put in better condition and kept that way for the entire year. The people of Belleville have a considerable amount of money invested in these grounds and they should be kept as a place show to that tourists and other visitors, who come to our city will have an incentive to visit them.

IT'S TO BE HOPED THAT THE EXAMPLE OF THAT CORRIGAN FELLER who hopped across the ocean in a home-made raft will be remembered that it is a many days to Christmas.

LET PEOPLE THAT THE GLOBE AND MAIL, glorified in its new setting, has provided the old printer's tool that sits on the floor and bore honorable marks of honest toil for many days and more—as a mouspiece.

The department store hired an efficiency expert, whose obsession was to move the department to a different part of the store every day. One day a section would be on the top floor, the next day it would be on the bottom floor.

After three weeks of this an old lady approached a harassed shop-walker and asked him if he could tell her where the ironmongery department was. "It's on the top floor," he said. "But you'll stand here for a few minutes. I'm sure you'll see it go by!"

Hints To Derby Contestants — How and Why?

Maximum Wheel Diameter—12 inches

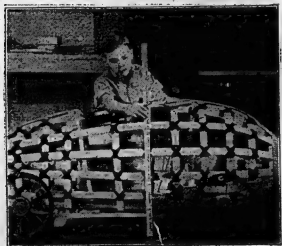

This boy is making sure that his wheels do not exceed the specified size. Note the unique streamlined design accomplished by use of wooden lath work. The frame is underlaid, of the "lining board" type and carries the driver a little back of the direct centre of the board, to give proper balance.

Plan Steering Gear Carefully

The Overall Length Must Meet Rules

Devise some method of checking, with accuracy, the overall length of your car. This length must not exceed 72 inches. The bullet-nosed racer above uses wooden strips for body formers. These strips are bound together with insulator tape. The body will be covered with fabric.

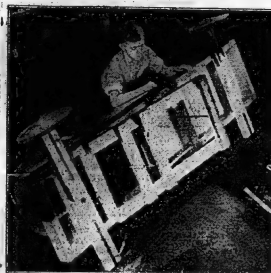

The steering assembly need not be complicated in order to be safe and practical. Use strong, flexible wire cable. Arrange your pulleys so that the cables exert a straight horizontal pull on the axle. This makes steering control easier and safer. Fasten your steering wheel securely to the steering post, as this point of control is all-important.

Steering Requires Much Attention

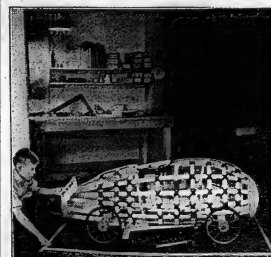

The boy in the foreground has a husky steering wheel and post but he must correct two visible errors before his car will be safe to drive. First, he should increase the winding area on the post by adding a wooden drum to wind the cable around. Second, the cable would pull easier if passed through a pulley fastened lower on the frame instead of through the eye, as pictured.

Safe Brakes Are Important

The Soap Box Derby racer must be equipped with a good brake, capable of stopping the car with safety. One popular type of effective brake is pictured at right. This double drag brake is easy to build and is suspended by hinges to the frame. The cross-piece which contacts the roadway should be covered with a piece of old rubber. A door spring keeps the brake from dropping when not in use.

Overall Height Must Not Exceed 30 Inches

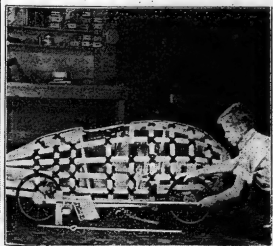

Soap Box Derby racers must conform to the rules. Consult your Rule Book for the dimensions permitted. The car above is underlaid, permitting a lower centre of gravity since the driver sits close to the ground. This car will not turn over easily and its streamlined design will help its speed. A system of wheel brakes is used, controlled by a single lever directly under the steering wheel.

Your Dad May Explain Construction Details

While the rules require the boy to do the actual work of building the car, there is nothing to prevent him from getting advice and suggestions from his father or older friends. Boys should not pass up an opportunity to get some helpful advice on construction details and rules.

Check Your Racer's Wheelbase

Your car's wheelbase must be at least 40 inches. Note the method devised by this boy for checking his partly-built racer. The stick marked off with the proper length permits him to check his wheelbase before the car is completed.

Proper Steering Presents A Problem

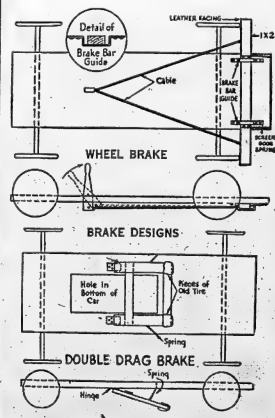

Much head-scratching is going on while this boy considers a lawn mower wheel as the answer to his steering problem. The chances are that this builder has overlooked the importance of safe steering. The lawn mower wheel will not make a good steering device since it is difficult to fasten this type of wheel to the steering post. A strong baby carriage wheel or an old automobile steering wheel will be easier to fasten safely to the steering post and will be easier to handle in driving the car.

Wire Cable for Steering Control

Strong, flexible wire cable gets the approval of this young builder. He is adjusting the tension of the cable by means of a turnbuckle. Be sure your steering cable can be tightened in this manner, with one or two turnbuckles. It is not necessary that the turnbuckle be placed at the axle connection as illustrated above.

The diagrams above illustrate two rules. Consult your Rule Book for types of brake permitted by the details on construction.

Hints To Derby Contestants — How and Why?

Maximum Wheel Diameter—12 Inches

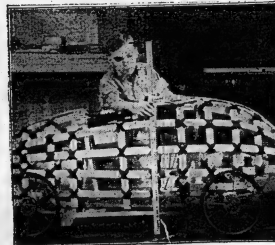

This boy is making sure that his wheels do not exceed the specified size. Note the unique streamlined design accomplished by use of wooden lath work. The frame is underlaid, of the "ironing board" type and carries the driver a little back of the direct centre of the board; to give proper balance.

Plan Steering Gear Carefully

The Overall Length Must Meet Rules

Devise some method of checking, with accuracy, the overall length of your car. This length must not exceed 72 inches. The bullet-nosed racer above uses wooden strips for body formers. These strips are bound together with insulator tape. The body will be covered with fabric.

Wise Mary Ellen

By CARLA F. ROBERTSON

Patience was almost that day, but Mary Ellen did not know it. They were in the little apartment at the rear of the main building of the town hall, when she realized the "hus" through the air in the back window. They had been in wait for her all these years—20 or 30 years, and today they were, all unknown to Mary Ellen. She was so surprised as anyone could be when she found the door open and she stepped down that made one think of the blonde one all sorts of things. She had just started to go to work, and she was so surprised to see that she was in the same place as she had been in the past. She was so surprised to see that she was in the same place as she had been in the past. She was so surprised to see that she was in the same place as she had been in the past.

MURRY, MISTER REPAIR MAN

"We're going to dance," said the repair man. "We're going to dance," said the repair man. "We're going to dance," said the repair man.

The new formula for Esso and 3-Star has been granted a patent by the Canadian Government. These gasoline new contain an exclusive solvent which dissolves gum and checks the formation of carbon. This is a definite contribution to the efficient operation of your engine.

This solvent should not be confused with lubricating oils sometimes added to gasoline. Ample lubrication is provided by Imperial lubricants. The purpose of this solvent is to dissolve gum and prevent sticky deposits from accumulating in your engine and robbing it of power.

If you use these new gasoline exclusively in a new car, it will retain its new, useful and improved characteristics. In an old car you will notice a gradual but unmistakable improvement in performance. Esso and 3-Star with this new solvent are sold everywhere in Canada at no increase in price.
